

International Affairs

Students and lecturers from home and abroad have long been part and parcel of life at University of Applied Sciences Kiel, and have, through the ensuing academic and cultural exchange of ideas, contributed considerably towards it.

For over 20 years now, the Kiel University of Applied Sciences has been cooperating with partner universities abroad. Students can opt to obtain credits by studying for one or two semesters at one of the partner universities, or by completing their industrial placement abroad.

The following people and institutions are responsible for the area "International Affairs":

- The Vice-President
- The study-abroad coordinators in the individual faculties
- The International Office
- The Centre for Languages and Intercultural Studies
